Wow! One more calendar! Hopefully this will help to answer any remaining questions you may have about our last week here at Little Lambs.

We will be holding classes on our regular schedule the first three days in June to make up for days we missed because of snow. On Thursday and Friday we will be having our end-of-the-year picnic at the Point Defiance Zoo. Our plan is to meet at the Aquarium at 11:00 for the "Outer Reef Dive Presentation" and "North Pacific Community Feed".

Following the aquarium programs we will meet at the Red Wolf Picnic Area. (covered picnic tables) Look for our Little Lambs sign, yellow table covers and your Little Lambs friends! You may bring a picnic lunch from home or there is also food that can be purchased at the Zoo. We will provide a desert for everyone! This will be a fun chance for us to be together! As for the rest of the day, you may choose to come early (park opens at 9:30) if you want to beat the crowds and are "morning families, or plan to stay after the picnic to see the animals if the afternoon is better for you.

We will pass out tickets to those who purchased them at school ahead of time. If you missed buying your ticket ahead, I may still be able get a discounted ticket for you on the day of the picnic—check with me. . . .

I know that I have said this often lately, but I continue to be surprised at how quickly time seems to be flying by! I have so enjoyed your children and am very grateful that you have shared them with us this year at Little Lambs! I look forward to seeing many families return in the Fall and I'm excited for those who are going on to Kindergarten! Have a wonderful, family- and sun-filled summer!!

With warm regards,
